Diese #vatniksoup spricht über die #NAFO und ihre Errungenschaften. Pro-Kreml-Konten und die russische Opposition behaupten oft, dass die NAFO nichts weiter ist als eine Bewegung, die schikanieren will, aber diese Aussage könnte nicht weiter von der Wahrheit entfernt sein.

Wikipedia beschreibt NAFO als eine „Internet-Meme- & Social-Media-Bewegung, die sich der Bekämpfung russischer Propaganda & Desinformation widmet“. Seit ihrem Start hat sich die Bewegung auch stark auf Crowdfunding für das  Militär & andere pro- Anliegen konzentriert.

Ivana Stradner opened her iPhone and typed a simple call-to-arms: Unleash the hounds.

A Washington think-tanker and an expert in Russian propaganda, Stradner is also a member of NAFO — or the North Atlantic Pallas Organization — an informal alliance of internet culture warriors, national security experts and ordinary Twitter users weaponizing memes, viral videos and, yes, dog photos to push back against Russian online disinformation.

“I see myself as a NAFO civilian propagandist,” said Stradner, an advisor to the Foundation for Defense of Democracies, a conservative think tank. “Until now, Russia has been the only ones willing to play a dirty game.” By posting on Twitter, she was letting her 26,000 followers know who they could turn to if they needed to deal with an infestation of “Vatniks” — a Russian pejorative for Kremlin sympathizers.

Die Stärke der NAFO liegt in ihrer dezentralen Struktur. Es gibt keine Anführer oder Hierarchie, sodass jede Art von Rufmord eine Herausforderung darstellt. Das hat die Leute jedoch nicht davon abgehalten, es zu versuchen. Vatniks haben alles versucht & unerbittlich...

Decentralisation is NAFO's greatest strength

A meme-driven community has risen to become a formidable force in the fight against Russian propaganda.

In the midst of the Russo-Ukrainian conflict, a group of intrepid individuals came together to take on Russia's formidable propaganda machine.

Dubbed the North Atlantic Fellas Organisation (NAFO), this decentralised community was born out of a viral internet meme and social media movement forged in response to Russia's invasion of Ukraine on February 24, 2022.

By design, the organisation is nearly impossible to shut down, as it lacks a centralised structure that could be targeted. As a result, NAFO has become a crucial player in the ongoing battle to fight Russia's efforts to spread misinformation, all while trying to fundraise and bring awareness to the war abroad.

...NAFO-Gründer @Kama_Kamilia wegen seiner alten Tweets angegriffen – ohne Erfolg, denn die Bewegung ist stärker denn je. Schon seit der Gründung der Bewegung hat Kama nachdrücklich betont, dass der Fokus immer auf NAFO liegen sollte, nicht auf ihm.

Why were you seeking to remain anonymous?

I wished to remain anonymous because it's not about me. Once you put a face to a name, it becomes about the person and not the message. And sometimes once you're the face of the 'operation' it can get to your head. We've all seen it time and time again, with numerous aid organizations. Thus, I prefer we continue to talk about NAFO, and not me personally.

What is NAFO and how did you get involved?

NAFO means different things to different people. Some treat it to help others, some use it to fight disinformation, while others use it as a place to find solace from everything that's happening. To me, it means whatever it means to others. There's no need to concentrate on purpose and one purpose alone. By limiting what NAFO means or is, we'd be limiting what NAFO can achieve.

NAFO hat sich in Gruppen mit verschiedenen Zielen gespalten. Einige Konten produzieren Memes, andere sammeln Spenden, wieder andere recherchieren. Viele machen sich über  Desinformationen lustig & bekämpfen sie. Das Ziel ist, der Ukraine zu helfen den Krieg zu gewinnen.

Darum wird die Bewegung auch ständig attackiert: Sie macht einen großen Unterschied mit ihrer Feuer-gegen-Feuer-Taktik gegen  bezahlte Trolle. Gleichzeitig unterstützt sie die  Kriegsanstrengung. NAFOs helfen sich auch gegenseitig, indem sie die Inhalte anderer teilen.

I just can't get over this attack on NAFO. While russian opposition was yelling at the whole world for being unfair, cartoon dogs were collecting real money, running real projects, and doing real stuff that saved lives.

Do you know how many concerned russian politicians supported my project to collect generators for Odesa? With people dying not from sharks but from being incapable of drinking fucking water. Zero. None.

Fellas were supportive at every step, they sent links to projects, they donated money, they were spreading every initiative to help Ukraine like wildfire. And it's not like we never had arguments. For fucking sure we did and it is... OK???

In the perfectly normal fight of ego vs the cause, NAFO consistently was 1000% better, communicating and collaborating. My DMs are full of those dogs right now, brainstorming, asking, and proposing. What I got from russian opposition? Heehee...

I'll say the thing that will make everyone sad. Hating Russia is OK. I do hate it even though I am inside. It destroyed my fucking life. It threatens to kill people I love. It kills them. And if you think that is unfair, put the finger out of your ass.

Some new designs from our store.

All proceeds go to charities helping the Donbass.

Replying to @squatsons @Andreaswirz2 and @RoubleDestroyer
We're currently looking for a trustworthy earthquake relief fund in Syria which is incredibly difficult if anyone has a charity that I can look into if very much appreciate it.

Replying to @Science_Fellow @SurfingCelia and @FredHunt
I hosted great people (other then Scott Ritter who is an extremely well experienced US military office, WMD inspector, and nuclear arms inspector.) they also define me, my contributions to charity through merch sales define me, how I feel, something you'll never understand

ayden @squatsons · 03 Mar
Replying to @Science_Fellow
I said we donate it to charity muppet, also we pay our producer who edits videos and creates our logos and such.

ayden @squatsons · 01 Mar
Replying to @squatsons @Andreaswirz2 and @RoubleDestroyer
Well different actually, the money we make sits in a fund that is used of the business (our producer and manager mostly) and charities as they arrive. The link he's promoting helps kill people and continue a war that should've ended in negotiations in February 2022.

HOW ITS GOING

← ayden

You can talk to DD, she manages donations and so on. The only SMO related donations were to the children of Donestk charity.

← ayden

And I dont know the charity, something about the children of Donestsk

← ayden

We dont really donate to ukraine I dont think

← ayden

You're such a obvious narcissist - It's so clear you aren't doing anything to help anyone but yourself

Outside of donating to charities which in my opinion is usually just another grift

The fact is that NAFO helps Putin a lot.
Putin's very important propaganda line "The West supports Ukraine because they just want to kill all the Russians" would have faded away... were it not for the constant help of NAFO.

Maria Pevchikh ✓ @pevchikh · Jul 9

Apologies if I am being slow. Perhaps I just don't want to believe my own eyes. Is 'NAFO summit' in Vilnius ACTUALLY celebrating on stage the death of a tourist eaten by a shark? 'Fighting Moscow with humour'? Am I the only missing what's funny about a guy being eaten alive?

Ukraine war, already with up to 354,000 casualties, likely to last past 2023 - U.S. documents

Summary

- Purported U.S. intelligence shows vast casualties on both sides
- War of attrition in Donbas heads for 'stalemate', document says
- U.S. worried Ukrainian attack inside Russia may stir China

MOSCOW, April 12 (Reuters) - As many as 354,000 Russian and Ukrainian soldiers have been killed or injured in the Ukraine war which is grinding towards a protracted conflict that may last well beyond 2023, according to a trove of purported U.S. intelligence documents posted online.

If authentic, the documents, which look like secret U.S. assessments of the war as well as some U.S. espionage against allies, offer rare insight into Washington's view of one of Europe's deadliest conflicts since World War Two.

Aus irgendeinem Grund reagierten dieselben Leute auch sehr kritisch auf Kaja Kallas Gruß an alle Shibanus der NAFO:
