Diese #vatniksoup stellt einen rumänischen Politiker und Verschwörungstheoretiker vor, Călin Georgescu (@calin_georgescu). Er ist für seine pro-Kreml & verschwörerischen Ansichten bekannt und kandidiert für das Amt des 🇷🇺 Präsidenten – mit Wahlkampf nur auf TikTok.

1/25

Georgescu hat einen Dokortitel in Pedologie (Zweig der Bodenkunde) & war in den 90ern in verschiedenen Positionen des rumänischen Umweltministeriums tätig.

Zwischen 1999 und 2012 war er Vertreter Rumäniens im nationalen Ausschuss des Umweltprogramms der Vereinten Nationen.

Who is Calin Georgescu?

Born in Bucharest in 1962, Georgescu holds a doctorate in pedology, a branch of soil science, and held different positions in Romania's environment ministry in the 1990s, according to his website. Between 1999 and 2012, he was a representative for Romania on the national committee of the United Nations Environment Program.

Once a member of Romania's far-right Alliance for the Unity of Romanians, or AUR, Georgescu left the party in 2022 after a period of infighting and being accused by colleagues of being pro-Russian and critical of NATO, the U.S.-led military alliance to which Romania belongs.

He supports the Romanian Orthodox Church and has sparked controversy in the past for describing Romanian fascist and nationalist leaders from the 1930s and 1940s as national heroes.

According to local media, he has praised Russian President Vladimir Putin as "a man who loves his country" and called Ukraine "an invented state," but he claims not to be pro-Russian. He is married with three sons.

2011, 2012 & 2016 wurde er von rechtsextremen 🇷🇴 Parteien als Premierminister vorgeschlagen. International bekannt wurde er aber 2024, als er unabhängig für das Amt des 🇷🇴 Staatspräsidenten kandidierte & im 1. Wahlgang die meisten Stimmen (22,95 %) aller Kandidaten erhielt.

A far-right populist took the lead in Romania's presidential election Sunday, electoral data showed, and will likely face leftist Prime Minister Marcel Ciolacu in a runoff in two weeks, an outcome that rocked the country's political landscape.

Calin Georgescu, who ran independently, led the polls with around 22% of the vote, while Ciolacu of the Social Democratic Party, or PSD, trailed at 20.6%. Elena Lasconi of the Save Romania Union party, or USR, stood at about 17.4%, and George Simion, the leader of the far-right Alliance for the Unity of Romanians, or AUR, took 14.3%.

After polls closed at 9 pm local time (1900GMT), 9.4 million people — about 52.4% of eligible voters — had cast ballots, according to the Central Election Bureau.

Dies kam völlig unerwartet, denn er übertraf die meisten Umfragen & schockierte das politische Establishment Rumäniens. Der  Politikberater Cristian Andrei erklärte, Georgescus Popularität schein ein „großer Protest oder eine Revolte gegen das Establishment“ zu sein.

Cristian Andrei, a political consultant based in Bucharest, told The Associated Press that Georgescu's unexpected poll performance appears to be a "large protest or revolt against the establishment."

"The mainstream political parties have lost the connection with regular Romanians," he said. "You don't have strong candidates or strong leaders ... there are weak candidates, weak leaders, and the parties in general are pretty much disconnected."

Wie in vielen Ländern haben auch in  das große Haushaltsdefizit, die relativ hohe Inflation & wirtschaftliche Probleme dazu geführt, dass Kandidaten der etablierten Parteien eine populistische Rhetorik einschlagen & naive Lösungen für komplexe, globale Probleme anbieten.

Romania's annual inflation rate edged up to 4.7% in October 2024, from 4.6% in the previous month and above market expectations of 4.4%. Prices rose for food (4.75% vs 4.72% in September) and non-food products (3.45% vs 3.30%). Meanwhile, costs moderated for services (7.66% vs 7.88%). On a monthly basis, consumer prices advanced by 0.62% in October, following a 0.33% rise in the prior month. source: Institutul National de Statistica

Georgescu Taktik ist typisch für populistische Kandidaten: er unterstütze die 🇷🇴 Landwirte, verringere die Abhängigkeit von Importen & steigere die Energie- & Lebensmittelproduktion. Sein Erfolg ist jedoch auf einen wichtigen Faktor zurückzuführen: seine TikTok Kampagne.

Where does Georgescu stand?

His positions include supporting Romanian farmers, reducing import dependence, and ramping up local energy and food production. He also wants to establish a "sovereign" distribution model allegedly based on participatory democracy in which "Truth, Freedom and Sovereignty are the axes of values" in Romania's development.

On foreign policy, NATO and European Union member Romania will respect its obligations, he states on his website, but only "to the extent that they will respect theirs" toward Romania. He also says Romania must play "a more consistent role" in international affairs.

Călin ist auf TikTok extrem beliebt – sein 1. Konto hatte 1,7 Millionen Likes bevor es gelöscht wurde und sein aktuelles offizielles Konto hat 440 000 Followers und +5 Millionen Likes. Es ist klar, dass diese Zahlen manipuliert wurden und nicht echt sind.

TikTok, which has 9 million users in Romania, says it has eliminated 66.000 fake accounts, 10 million fake followers, 7 million fake likes in September and October

Bei näherer Betrachtung scheint Georgescu ein richtiger Vatnik-Verschwörungstheoretiker zu sein. Seine früheren pro-russischen Äußerungen waren so extrem, dass einige ihn sogar als Vertreter des Kremls in 🇷🇺 betrachteten. Natürlich ist er auch ein scharfer Kritiker...

Georgescu, a sustainable development consultant who has worked for several UN bodies, has called Nato's ballistic missile defence shield over Romania a "shame of diplomacy" and said the alliance would not protect its members from Russian attack.

Er lobte Wladimir Putin als „einen Mann, der sein Land liebt“ & erklärte, Rumänien solle sich an die „russische Weisheit“ halten. Er hat die Ukraine als „erfundenen Staat“ bezeichnet. Natürlich sagte er, er sei nicht „pro-russisch“, sondern wolle nur „einen Dialog“ führen.

With 99.98% of votes counted, Călin Georgescu, an independent who has praised Vladimir Putin as "a man who loves his country", was on 22.9%, with the reformist Elena Lasconi, of the Save Romania Union (USR), second on 19.17%.

While he has not explicitly admitted that he supports Russia, he said in an interview that Romania ought to abide by "Russian wisdom".

In a 2022 interview, Georgescu called Russian President Vladimir Putin one of the few true leaders in the world.

Georgescu is challenging Romania's pro-Ukraine position, emphasising engaging with, rather than challenging, Russia.

"Security comes from dialogue, not confrontation, when you are elegant and civilized," he told Romanian private broadcaster Digi24 this month. "Do you think Zelenskiy is an elegant guy, a patriot?"

"There is no reason for us to talk about war all the time, we must be concerned with peace, without peace we can't build anything."

“In this revealing and insightful interview, former UN Executive Director Călin Georgescu describes the process of infiltration and global takeover of the United Nations by oligarchs, particularly Klaus Schwab and the World Economic Forum (WEF). He outlines the power structures of the UN, its covert manipulation, exploitation and enslavement of people around the world, and reveals the sobering reality of a once benevolent organization.

Călin Georgescu tells the story of his own tipping-point, of turning his back on the destructive agenda of the oligarchs. He emphasizes the importance of (re)connecting with nature, ourselves and our fellow human beings which shall guide us to true sovereignty, harmony and the Divine.

May his wise words of encouragement and compassion be an inspiration to us all.”

The presidential candidates received contributions of 120 million lei for the elections. Who spent the most?

📄 Summary by Digi 24

The Permanent Electoral Authority presented, on Wednesday, the income and electoral expenses declared until today by the candidates for the presidential elections. Călin Georgescu, ranked first in the first round of voting, declared at AEP that he had zero contributions in the campaign and zero expenses, while Elena Lasconi, the USR candidate, had contributions of over 19 million lei and expenses of over 16 million lei.

Hayer's appeal comes only two days after Georgescu's shock victory. He had no party backing and polls had failed to pick up on his popularity — though researchers are now zeroing on a major TikTok campaign he led in the days leading up to the election.

"We believed that Tiktok was misused and was led to be misused by him and an army of fake accounts that were used for his purpose," said Bogdan Manolea, executive director of the Romanian campaign group, Association for Technology and Internet.

Romanian Prime Minister Marcel Ciolacu on Tuesday said funding for Georgescu's campaign on TikTok needed to be reviewed. "It's a system, I don't know how legal it is, I understood how the system was used. The source of financing, in my opinion, is to be followed, 'follow the money.'"

Romania Corruption Index

Summary

Download ▾

Romania scored 46 points out of 100 on the 2023 Corruption Perceptions Index reported by Transparency International. Corruption Index in Romania averaged 38.09 Points from 1997 until 2023, reaching an all time high of 48.00 Points in 2016 and a record low of 26.00 Points in 2002. source: Transparency International

- The Romanian media ecosystem has developed its own alternative news networks and channels that spread anti-EU and anti-Western narratives, combined with apocalyptic news, conspiracies, pro-Kremlin narratives, fascist content, Dacian mythology, etc. Many times, they copy false narratives from US and UK alternative and fringe media.
- For at least 5-7 years, there has been a growing 'sovereignist' movement (bridging nationalism and populism) that is the main drive behind disinformation, pushing mostly anti-Western narratives. The movement includes journalists and media outlets, social media influencers, politicians, and other public figures, such as religious and cultural personalities. Religion and ethnic minorities-related sensitivities are often instrumentalised to fuel anti-EU and anti-Western sentiments.
- Romania does not have a strong cultural, historical, or economic relation to Russia. There is no relevant Russian minority, Romanians do not speak Russian, there are no Russian radio or TV stations. However, a growing Russian influence has been noticeable in the last few years. The Kremlin's intentions are not to make Russia liked or admired in Romania (because of historic wounds) but to create hostility towards the West. In Romania, Russian disinformation is efficient as it takes over autonomous narratives, being camouflaged by proxies and mobilising old communist ties and feelings of nostalgia for a period long gone. Besides, it gets spread by political parties and movements, NGOs, think tanks, religious figures, former and current journalists, influencers, and cultural personalities.
- Resilience against disinformation is very low: Romania is second to last in the EU countries on media literacy and 29th out of 38 countries examined on trust in media. A 2022 report concluded that "Romanians have internalised global conspiracist narratives (...) and erroneous information have prevailed over arguments presented by the scientific community or by authorities". Moreover, the media lacks independence, and the political parties use their public subsidies for media coverage, hence, weakening media freedom. In this sense, an RFS report highlights that "media funding mechanisms are often opaque or even corrupt. While the largest media companies manage to be self-sufficient, most depend on external funding sources, including subsidies. Diverting public funds to the media, in a non-transparent manner, is a widespread political practice, distorting both the market and the watchdog function of the media".
- Romanian authorities have so far failed to tackle disinformation systematically, although there is some interest, e.g., the 2020 National Defence Strategy included disinformation, but actions have yet to materialise so far. This lack of action helps internal actors to capitalise on disinformation for their political gain, using the anti-Western agenda to climb to power.

Ihm zufolge haben soziale Frustration und mangelndes Verständnis des nationalen & internationalen Kontextes (fehlende Bildung) in Verbindung mit einer massiv manipulierten Social-Media-Kampagne zur Entstehung dieser Situation geführt:

Why Romania should be the logistics hub for Ukraine's reconstruction

Romania's politicians should not waste the opportunity to become a pivotal player in Ukraine's reconstruction.

In the context of the Ukrainian conflict, the international community is increasingly focused on the complex task of reconstruction. This monumental effort requires a sophisticated and efficient logistics network to transport aid, materials, and in no small part personnel.

Amidst this critical need, Romania has the potential to emerge as a vital logistics hub, playing a crucial role in supporting Ukrainian reconstruction efforts based on its inherent logistical advantages.

As a member of NATO and the European Union, Romania benefits from both organisations' resources and support structures.
