Most believe some or all of the theories involving midnight ballots, voting machines, etc, but what you find when you talk to them is that, while they'll defend those positions w/info they got from Hannity or Breitbart or whatever, they're not particularly attached to them. 2/x

Here are the facts - actual, confirmed facts - that shape their perspective: 1) The FBI/etc spied on the 2016 Trump campaign using evidence manufactured by the Clinton campaign. We now know that all involved knew it was fake from Day 1 (see: Brennan's July 2016 memo, etc). 3/x

Victor Davis Hanson replies to an egregious and inaccurate portrayal of the Second World War in a podcast by Darryl Cooper.

<https://winstonchurchill.hillsdale.edu/churchill-cooper-ww2/>

The comments were made by the podcaster Darryl Cooper on Mr. Carlson’s show “Tucker on X” on the social media platform. Mr. Carlson, who has hosted the show since Fox severed ties with him in 2023, introduced Mr. Cooper as “the most important popular historian working in the United States today.”

Mr. Cooper, who has a podcast and newsletter called “Martyr Made,” proceeded to make a variety of false claims about the Holocaust and World War II, including that millions of people in concentration camps “ended up dead” merely because the Nazis did not have enough resources to care for them, rather than as a result of the intentional genocide that it was. Mr. Cooper also claimed that Winston Churchill, the British prime minister at the time, and not Adolf Hitler, was “primarily responsible for that war becoming what it did.”

Hitler tried again, going on the radio to broadcast a call for peace directly to the British people. He would give back the parts of Poland that were not majority German, and would work with the other powers to reach an acceptable solution to the Jewish problem. He was ignored. /21

 Readers added context

Grossly misleading.

The tweet refers to the "appeal to reason" by Hitler in July 1940. By this time Hitler had invaded two direct Allies of Britain, Poland and France, broken multiple treaties and Einsatzstaffeln were killing Jews, Poles and others.

Auch wenn er behauptet, ein Libertärer zu sein, riecht Darryls Rhetorik nach purem Faschismus. Auf die Frage, ob Europa unter der Führung der Nazis/Hitlers besser gewesen wäre als heute, sagte er: „Ich kann mir nichts Schlimmeres vorstellen als das, was passiert ist“.

Darryl & Scott haben sogar ein Buch mit dem Titel „Provoked: America’s Role in the Russia-Ukraine War“ veröffentlicht. Darin vertritt das Duo die alte Kreml-Lüge, dass der Krieg „durch die NATO-Expansion provoziert“ wurde & nichts mit russischem Imperialismus zu tun hat.

My friend Scott Horton asked me to co-author a book with him about the history of the war in Ukraine and the conflict between NATO and Russia since the end of the Cold War. Basically an expanded, heavily-footnoted, 40-page bibliography version of the Thoughts on Ukraine episode I did a few months ago. We really want to do this right, so I'm going to be spending a lot of time reading (and re-reading) material on the topic. Since the war in Ukraine is literally the most important thing in the world these days, and since it's already stealing a lot of my attention even without the book, I figured I'd let the spirit take me, and report to you along the way. So, over the next few months, I will still be doing pieces on other topics (the big Hatfield-McCoy post/episode is still coming), but we're going to spend some time deep-diving on the new Cold (and increasingly hot) War. Obviously, at the end of the day, I work for you guys, so if I'm going too heavy on the topic, feel free to let me know, but I think that over the next few months we'll be getting into many interesting things you might not expect.

PRVT | PROCESS AND RESULTS
VERIFICATION FOR TRANSPARENCY

What is a PRVT?

A PRVT is an advanced and proven election monitoring methodology that allows nonpartisan citizen observers to systematically assess the quality of opening, voting, closing, counting, and tabulation processes at a national scale. When appropriate, PRVTs enable nonpartisan citizen observer groups to quickly predict where the credible results of the election should fall. Unlike exit polls, PRVTs do not ask citizens how they voted; rather, they rely on trained observers collecting data at polling stations.

Why Do a PRVT?

PRVTs, properly done by citizen groups, reduce uncertainty from the election environment by providing careful analysis of observer findings. They most frequently confirm official results and increase public confidence in well run elections. Where PRVTs expose fraud, or identify problems in the process, they provide an objective basis for understanding the negative effects and for seeking peaceful resolution of complaints. PRVTs, thus, reduce potentials for political conflict.

HERE'S HOW THEY WORK

Elections are administered at polling stations

A polling station is where voting and counting takes place, and it is where results are recorded.

Observers deploy to a sample of polling stations

By using a statistical sample of polling stations citizen organizations can make rapid, precise assessments by deploying trained observers to select stations.

They report on the integrity of processes throughout the day

Observers examine crucial aspects of voting and counting at assigned locations, reporting on strengths and irregularities that affect the quality of the election.

Observers report results as announced at the station

Observers note the number of ballots cast and the votes recorded by officials for each contestant.

Reports are rapidly sent to a PRVT data center for analysis

Reports are generally sent by coded SMS and in some cases using applications on smartphones.

Findings are based on the data and low margins of error

Observation statements present careful analysis of data, assure accurate characterizations of elections, and confident verification of official election results.

NDI

Since 1988, NDI has assisted citizen groups to perform over 180 PRVTs in more than 50 countries. Based on 25 years of technical assistance to groups executing PRVTs, NDI successfully employs peer-to-peer approaches, builds cross-border support networks, and promotes PRVT expertise. @martyrmade

Russia was the unequivocal good guy in the Syrian civil war, stepping in at the last moment to prevent the genocide our jihadist proxies were openly bragging was coming.

In Ukraine, perhaps there are no good guys, but the record shows clearly that a) from 2014-22 Russia tried to avoid a war, b) Russia had valid and obvious security concerns acknowledged by everyone from George Kennan to current CIA Director William Burns (those known Putin stooges), c) Ukraine was becoming a de facto NATO outpost and Russia invaded when they believed Ukraine would soon be too strong for them to prevent it, d) Russia has tried to avoid escalating the conflict by not going after Kiev or the Zelensky regime, not attacking weapons shipments and training centers outside of Ukraine, and not attacking international infrastructure in retaliation for NordStream. Meanwhile, what are our motivations for being involved? Hawks like @LindseyGrahamSC and @DanCrenshawTX will tell you plainly: we just want to see Russians die.

Russia was unequivocally in favor of peace according to the terms laid out in the Minsk agreements, which we acknowledged to be a cynical ploy to buy time. Putin and Zelensky had a draft deal in place to end the war early on, but we vetoed it. We say we're defending democracy, but Ukraine's elected leaders aren't even allowed to choose for themselves whether to continue a war. All this while we have overwhelming evidence that the current US President was taking bribes from Ukrainian interests.

I don't know if there are any good guys in the Ukraine war, but there is definitely a bad guy, and, just like in Syria, we're it. I don't like saying any of this. I'm a veteran and come from a family of veterans. I worked as a civilian engineer for the DOD. It's in my blood to be a flag-waving Team America superfan. But after Serbia, Iraq, Afghanistan, Syria, Libya, Yemen, and now Ukraine, I just have to be honest about what we've become. And some will respond that there is no "we," that our rulers don't act in their name, but when the bill comes due for America, the collectors aren't going to make that distinction.
