In today's #vatniksoup, I'll introduce a Russo-Serbian-American actor, martial artist and carrot-enjoyer, Steven Seagal. He's best-known for allegedly pooping his pants, for his praise of dictators around the world, for being a dick, and for his sexual harassment lawsuits.

1/19

Seagal's roots go back to Russia, and his paternal grandparents were Russian Jewish (actual Russian Jewish, not the Donbass Devushka kind) immigrants. In an interview by Dmitry Borisov, ...

2/19

...he stated that his paternal ancestry can be located to the Siberian city Vladivostok but also to Belarus and St. Petersburg.

Steven got into the movie business in 1987, when he cooperated in Above the Law with Andrew Davis. With zero acting skills and ...

3/19

...the relatively successful Exit Wounds (2001), most of his movies have been released as direct-to-video.

His success during the early 90s also landed him a spot as a host on Saturday Night Live. The series' Lorne Michaels, David Spade and Tim Meadows described Seagal...

5/19

...as "show's worst host ever". They called on his humorlessness and on his ill-treatment of the cast and writers. Seagal also refused to do a skit with characters that had previously claimed they could "beat up Steven Seagal".

6/19

"When we pitched some of our ideas for Seagal at our Monday meeting, he gave us some of his own sketch ideas," recalled fellow cast member Julia Sweeney. "And some of his sketch ideas were so heinous, so hilariously awful, it was like we were on Candid Camera."

One pitch in particular left Sweeney dumbfounded: "He had this idea that he's a therapist, and he wanted Victoria Jackson to be his patient who'd just been raped. And the therapist says, 'You're going to have to come to me twice a week for like three years,' because, he said, 'That's how therapists fucking are. They're just trying to get your money.' And then he says the psychiatrist tries to have sex with her."

Seagal has also been involved in various business endeavors, of which most have failed to make money. In 2005, his company Seagal Enterprises produced an energy drink, "Steven Seagal's Lightning Bolt", but the product was quickly discontinued.

7/19

He's also launched an aftershave, "Scent of Action". In 2013, Seagal teamed up with Russian weapons manufacturer, ORSIS, to promote his signature rifle known as "ORSIS by Steven Seagal". He's also lobbied for lifting off the US import restrictions on Russian firearms.

8/19

In addition to collecting sword, Seagal also collects sexual harassment lawsuits. He's been involved in various harassment cases since the early 90s, and for example Portia de Rossi has told that he'd unzipped ...

Portia de Rossi accuses Steven Seagal of sexual harassment

9 November 2017

The actress alleges Steven Seagal propositioned her while she auditioned for a role

Actress Portia de Rossi has accused actor and producer Steven Seagal of sexual harassment.

The Arrested Development actress, who is married to US talk show host Ellen DeGeneres, made the allegation in a tweet posted on Wednesday night.

She alleges that during a film audition Mr Seagal told her "how important it was to have chemistry off-screen" before unzipping his trousers.

Mr Seagal's manager told BBC News that the actor had no comment.

...his pants after saying "how important it was to have chemistry off-screen" during audition.

He also told then 16-year-old Katherine Heigl in 1994 that "he had girlfriends the same age".
Seagal's also been accused of raping an 18-year-old.

The screenshot shows a news article on the CointeeK website. The article is titled "Steven Seagal-promoted Bitcoin2Gen charged over $11M scam" and is dated February 2, 2021, by author Steve Kaaru. The main text reports that the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) has filed charges against three individuals, including Steven Seagal, for allegedly defrauding investors. The article also mentions that the SEC filed a complaint against Kristijan Krstic and John DeMarr, and that the platform was falsely claimed to be the best and most secure Bitcoin exchange. A sidebar on the right shows "LATEST NEWS" with a headline about Bitrex exchange facing SEC charges.

Steven Seagal-promoted Bitcoin2Gen charged over $11M scam

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) has filed charges against three individuals it alleges defrauded hundreds of investors in the country. The regulator said two of the three accused operated Bitcoin2Gen, a cryptocurrency company that tapped actor Steven Seagal as one of its promoters.

The complaint, which the SEC filed at the Eastern District of New York, accused Kristijan Krstic of being the founder and main operator of Bitcoin2Gen as well as Start Options, yet another fraudulent digital currency company.

Krstic allegedly partnered with John DeMarr, a U.S.-based promoter for the two companies. From December 2017 to late January 2018, the two allegedly touted Start Options to be a leading global digital asset mining and trading platform. The suspects hailed the company as "the largest Bitcoin exchange in euro volume and liquidity," according to the regulator.

They also falsely claimed to their investors that the platform was "consistently rated the best and most secure Bitcoin exchange by independent news media," the SEC said.

Aside from Start Options, the two promoted Bitcoin2Gen's purported ICO of its B2G tokens. A third participant, known as Robin Enos, drafted the marketing materials for the project. Enos knew that the fraudulent material would be used to lure the investors, the SEC alleged.

Here's the poop on the latest rumors about Russian President Vladimir Putin's health. The hashtag #PutinPoopedHimself began trending on Twitter after General SVR's Telegram channel asserted that Putin had fallen down five steps on a staircase, landing on his coccyx. Not Cossacks, but coccyx, which is the medical term for tailbone. Apparently, the tailbone didn't end there, though. According to General SVR, this fall caused Putin to "defecate involuntarily," as opposed to defecate voluntarily on the stairs. The image of someone falling down stairs and then having some fecal release may seem rather different from the picture of Putin riding shirtless on a horse that emerged over a decade

Steven Seagal is a huge Putin fan, once describing him as "one of the great living world leaders". He showed strong support for the annexation of Crimea, and even appeared there in Aug, 2014, at an event organized by the motor cycle gang, Night Wolves. At the event, he ...

Later that year Steven visited Olenivka in Donetsk, with former Ponzi schemer and leader of the puppet state DPR, Denis Pushilin as his host. According to Pushilin, Seagal also interviewed Ukrainian POW's, thus breaking the Geneva convention.

In 2013, Seagal was invited as a guest at Ramzan Kadyrov's birthday party in Chechnya. Steven called him a "great leader", and Kadyrov referred to him as "almost a Chechen national."
