In today's #vatniksoup, I'll provide my predictions on what will happen next:

1) Russia will promote themselves as mediator in the Israel-Palestine conflict, and also start spreading propaganda about how they've wanted peace in Ukraine but the West has prevented this.

2) Spread of fake news and disinformation will absolutely explode, and most of this material will be taken out of context. Old videos from Syria, Palestine, etc. will go viral, and simpletons like @NickGriffinBU will share content from video games.

I've been fact-checking on Twitter for years, and there's always plenty of misinformation during major events.

But the deluge of false posts in the last two days, many boosted via Twitter Blue, is something else.

Neither fact-checkers nor Community Notes can keep up with this.

JUST IN: Video of a salvo of rockets fired by Hamas from the Gaza Strip towards Israel.

Earlier it was reported that Hamas tried to attack the airport in Tel Aviv. Rockets were also fired at Israeli Ashkelon.

Some of the rockets failed to be shot down: a few minutes ago, one of the rockets hit Ashkelon.

This video certainly doesn't show a new air assault on Israel by Hamas militants, because it's actually from the video game Arma 3.

BREAKING – Hamas militants started a new air assault on parts of Israel !!!

None of the videos shared in this tweet, viewed 240,000 times, show Israeli strikes on Hamas.

They're all old clips of fireworks and celebrations by supporters of CR Belouizdad after winning the Algerian football championship title.

Israel has the right and duty to defend its civilians against terrorism.

3) MAGA gang and other political movements based on lies and grifting will use the disinformation to promote their agenda, and once they're exposed, they will move on to the next lie. There will be absolutely no accountability.

4) This same group will also try to tie the situation in Israel to the war in Ukraine. This has already started by people claiming that the weapons intended to Ukraine were actually sold to Hamas. Community Notes will appear too late to have any real impact.

Timeline: Iran-Russia Collaboration on Drones

August 10, 2023

In August 2022, Iran's supply of lethal drones to Russia sparked international interest and alarm. By December, Iran had reportedly supplied more than 1,700 drones capable of suicide bombings, surveillance and intelligence, and combat, according to Ukrainian military intelligence. By early 2023, Tehran and Moscow had reportedly developed plans to produce some 6,000 Iranian models at a new facility in Russia. The following is a timeline of Iran's exports to Russia and Russia's usage of Iranian drones.

The Shahed-129 is the most used drone in Iran's fleet

June 8, 2022: Russian officials reportedly visited Kashan Airfield in central Iran to inspect the Shahed-129 and Shahed-191 unmanned aerial vehicles (UAVs). Both can carry out reconnaissance and attack missions.

July 5, 2022: A second Russian delegation visited Kashan Airfield to examine Iranian drone technology.

Jul. 11, 2022: White House National Security Advisor Jake Sullivan revealed that Iran was preparing to provide Russia with "up to several hundred" drones for use in the war on Ukraine.

Aug. 5, 2022: Iran had transferred 46 UAVs, including Shahed-129s, to Russia for use against Ukraine, said Oleksiy Arestovych, a Ukrainian presidential advisor.
