

In today's Vatnik Soup, we introduce a Ukrainian "scholar" and social media activist, Marta Havryshko (@HavryshkoMarta). She's best known for spreading anti-Ukraine and pro-Kremlin narratives online, along with a habit of spotting neo-Nazis everywhere in Ukraine.

1/20

Marta hails from Ukraine, where she studied history at Ivan Franko National University of Lviv. She received her PhD in history in 2010. Her academic work focused on gender-based violence and wartime atrocities, including publications on sexual crimes in occupied Ukraine.

2/20

VWI > Research > VWI-Alumni > 2020/2021 > Gerda Henkel – Research Fellows > Marta Havryshko

LIBRARY

Catalogue Conditions

ARCHIVE

Inventory Conditions

S: I. M. O. N.

EUROPEAN HOLOCAUST
RESEARCH INFRASTRUCTURE

Marta Havryshko

Gerda Henkel – Research Fellow (2/2021 – 9/2021)

War on Women's Bodies. Sexual Violence during the Holocaust in Ukraine

Sexual violence was one of the most horrific parts of women's everyday lives during the Holocaust. This research project analyses the causes, patterns, dynamics, and consequences of sexual violence against Jewish women and girls during the Shoah in Ukraine using a gender approach. The main questions under consideration include: Was sexual violence a by-product or rather a tool of genocide? How and why could rape be considered an instrument of terror, humiliation, punishment, revenge, dehumanisation, demonstrating power, bonding among perpetrators, and constructing gender roles? What is sexual about sexual violence in the Holocaust? The project analyses how cultural ideas and discourses about the body, sexuality, reproduction, and ethnic, racial, national, religious, and political identity as well as positions of power contributed to perpetrators' motivations and strategies for sexual violence, as well as victims'/survivors' experiences of these processes. The project seeks to create a meaningful space for Jewish women's voices and perspectives.

Marta Havryshko is a Research Associate at the I. Krypakiyevych Institute of Ukrainian Studies at the National Academy of Sciences of Ukraine. Her research interests include sexual violence during the Holocaust and the Second World War, gender history, and nationalism. In 2019/20, she was a fellow at the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum. Her research has been supported by Yad Vashem, the German Academic Exchange Service, Yahad-In Unum, Monash University, and others.

E-Mail: marta.havryshko@vwi.ac.at

GERDA HENKEL STIFTUNG

Menu

Search

Dr. Marta Havryshko

SHARE

DIANE AND HOWARD WOHL FELLOW
“GENDER AND THE HOLOCAUST: SEXUAL VIOLENCE
AGAINST JEWISH WOMEN IN NAZI-OCCUPIED UKRAINE”

She is currently working as a visiting Assistant Professor at the Strassler Center for Holocaust & Genocide Studies at Clark University in the US. According to the center's website, Marta teaches courses on antisemitism, racism, and gender-based violence in armed conflicts.

Marta Havryshko

Visiting Assistant Professor, Strassler Center for Holocaust and Genocide Studies

ABOUT

SCHOLARLY AND CREATIVE WORKS

Dr. Marta Havryshko holds a PhD in History from the Ivan Franko National University of Lviv (Ukraine). Her research interests are primarily focused on sexual violence during World War II and the Holocaust, women's history, feminism, and nationalism.

More on Marta here: <https://www.ushmm.org/research/about-the-mandel-center/all-fellows-and-scholars/dr-marta-havryshko>

Degrees

- Ph.D. in History, Ivan Franko National University of Lviv, 2010
- M.A. in History, Ivan Franko National University of Lviv, 2006
- B.A. in History, Ivan Franko National University of Lviv, 2005

Affiliated Department

Strassler Center for Holocaust and Genocide Studies

But her academic background plays little role in her public profile. Marta gained Grokipedia (not Wikipedia) fame by sharing videos of alleged far-right activity and forced mobilization in Ukraine. She claims the country is a Nazi state, including its government.

4/20

The Far Right's Influence on Post-Maidan Ukraine

Do you think that far-right groups took advantage of the opportunity during the events on the Maidan and imposed their ideology on Ukrainian society?

Yes, I am convinced that Maidan allowed ultra-nationalists to seize memory politics in Ukraine. They began to push an ultra-nationalist narrative. From the beginning, many people were not in favour of this narrative. Many opposed it. They did not want monuments and streets of Bandera and Shukhevych in their cities.

These contradictions over the Soviet legacy deepened further after the 2023 launch of "de-colonisation", essentially removing all traces of the Russian heritage present in Ukraine. By destroying this memory, Ukraine liquidated an important part of its own history, becoming less diverse, inclusive and more ethno-nationalist and myth-centric.

Now, a clear distinction is needed between activism and academic work. Havryshko is not an expert on far-right or neo-Nazi groups and has no scientific publications on the topic. She should therefore be described as a heavily biased, anti-Ukraine online activist.

5/20

Marta Havryshko
@HavryshkoMarta

X.com

Ukrainians: This war is so fucking exhausting.

EU: Here's some money for two more years of war — now get back to fighting. And mobilize your 18-year-old kids.

16:10 · 12/18/25 · 7.5K Views

Ms. Havryshko eagerly highlights even minor social media posts showing alleged far-right activity in Ukraine, yet shows little interest when the same occurs in the US. In her upside-down framing, American neo-Nazis are protected by the First Amendment, so it's all kosher.

6/20

 Marta Havryshko  @HavryshkoMarta · Jan 26

Some of my not very smart haters have been enthusiastically twisting the comment below into “proof” that I supposedly instrumentalize the fight against neo-Nazis in Ukraine while conveniently “ignoring” neo-Nazis elsewhere — including the United States.

So let me spell it out. Slowly. Again.

What I meant is simple: in the U.S., a disturbing amount of what most people would plainly recognize as hate speech is legally protected as free speech under the First Amendment.

That’s why in America you can literally watch groups like Aryan Nations, RAM, Atomwaffen Division, Patriot Front, or the Oath Keepers parade down the streets with Nazi-style symbolism, slogans, and aesthetics — not hidden in the shadows, but out in public, often acting as if they’re just another “opinion” in the marketplace of ideas.

And yes, their defenders routinely fall back on one well-known precedent: the Skokie Affair (1977), when U.S. courts upheld the First Amendment rights of Nazis to march through a predominantly Jewish suburb populated by Holocaust survivors — with a swastika.

Now compare that to Ukraine.

In Ukraine, there are the so-called decommunization laws of 2015 and provisions of the Criminal Code of Ukraine (Article 436-1), which explicitly prohibit the propaganda of the National Socialist regime and the distribution of its symbols.

Is that clear now — or do we need to go through it one more time?

 Scintillata  @ScintillataUA · 1d

Marta, why don't you fighting this? You live in a country where neo-nazi marches are permitted

1 2 247 3,1K

 Marta Havryshko  @Havryshko... · 1d

Yes, it's called 1 Amendment

20 3 3,7K

37 11 86 6,2K

 Casual Bribery  @filthylucre44

So your only defense is: it's legal in the US to be a nazi, and illegal in Ukraine. Therefore I will focus exclusively on Ukraine. I'll go through it slowly for you: that is really dumb and disingenuous

<https://twitter.com/i/web/status/2016888051230740722>

ON SATURDAY, NEO-NAZIS PROTESTED OUTSIDE THE CHABAD OF COBB SYNAGOGUE IN GEORGIA

Due to her harsh and often unwarranted criticism of everything Ukraine-related, she has become popular in vatnik circles. The appeal is obvious: she is Ukrainian, claims to be “pro-humanity,” and opposes any positive change, like joining the EU, for her home country.

7/20

Marta Havryshko  @HavryshkoMarta · 18h

 ...

"Ukraine's accession to the European Union is one of the key security guarantees not only for us, but for all of Europe," Zelensky explained in his latest attempt to sell Ukraine to the EU in 2027.

Sure, everyone understands it's a rock-solid guarantee of financial security for Zelensky and his cronies.

But for Europe, it mostly looks like a long-term subscription to supporting a barefoot, half-naked neighbor who keeps knocking on the door asking for pocket money... and never says when they'll move out 😞

82

70

307

8.6K

 ...

Chris Zeller
@ChrisZell0

 ...

Marta Havryshko demonstrates on a daily basis how reactionary and right-wing populist a person can be who is used by apparent leftists in Europe as a key witness for their propaganda against the Ukrainian resistance.

Marta Havryshko

@HavryshkoMarta

X.com

Zelensky wants Ukraine to join the EU by January 1, 2027.

Free movement of people is one of the core principles of the EU.

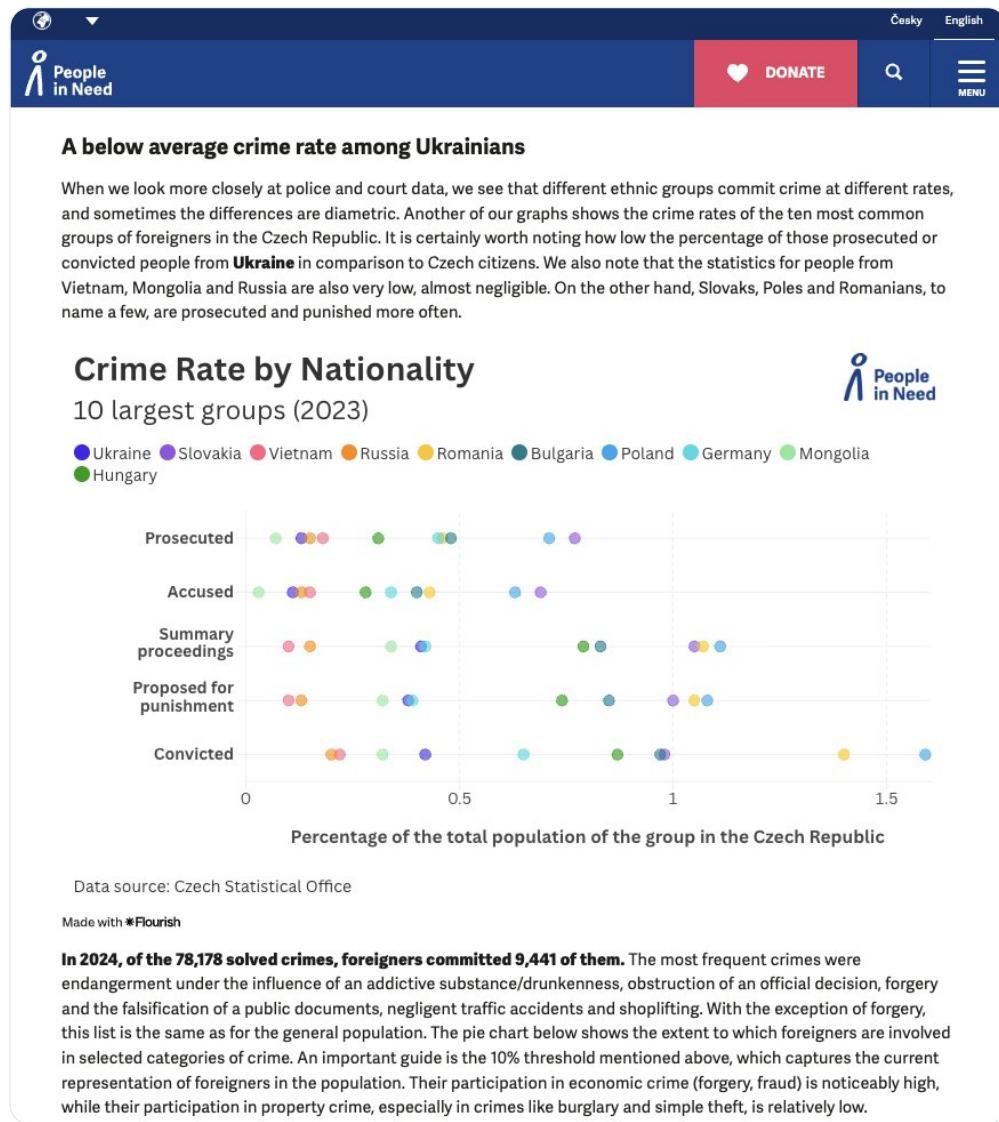

Now imagine this: after accepting Ukraine, the EU is flooded with:

👉 Hundreds of thousands of veterans carrying war trauma and PTSD, a classic “stab-in-the-back” narrative, and—purely hypothetically, of course—a few weapons thoughtfully stockpiled during the war.

👉 Thousands of neo-Nazis and white supremacists, highly trained in killing, ideologically motivated, and now enjoying the benefits of open borders and budget airlines.

What do you think will happen next?

Europe, are you ready to welcome your new “defenders”?

This likely explains why she has become a regular guest on Norwegian vatnik Glenn Diesen's show. Diesen is a member of Putin's Valdai club, has worked extensively for RT, denied Russia's role in the MH17 shootdown, and labeled the Euromaidan as a "NATO-backed coup d'État."

And if chatting shit with Diesen wasn't bad enough, it gets worse. Much worse. In December 2025, Marta appeared on Jackson Hinkle's Legitimate Targets propaganda show. As a Ukrainian activist, she did not seem bothered by Hinkle's open support for the Putin regime.

9/20

Jackson Hinkle   @jackso... · 25. Mai · · ·
Wagner VICTORY In Bakhmut Shirts
AVAILABLE NOW: gearbubble.com/wagnerbakhmut

238

188

1.576

68,1K

Legitimate Targets

@LegitTargets

Follow

⋮

🇵🇱 🇺🇦 BREAKING: 500,000 UKRAINIAN TROOPS FLEE

Today on Legitimate Targets, Jackson Hinkle speaks with Ukrainian Professor Marta Havryshko about the BREAKDOWN of the Ukrainian military, the Kiev CORRUPTION scandal & more.

And Hinkle is not just your average vatnik, he is a fanatical supporter of all the worst dictators and atrocities around, including the Nazi-themed Wagner group, infamous for torture and sexual abuse, Assad, Iran, Hamas and Stalin. To be fair, he probably gets paid for it.

10/20

Jackson Hinkle   @jacksonhinklle · Jan 10
This man FIGHTS for your freedoms!

Jackson Hinkle   @jacksonhinklle · 10h

He won't marry you...

None of Hinkle's or Diesen's shenanigans seem to bother Marta, which is striking given her academic background in Holocaust and genocide studies, including a stated focus on gender-based sexual violence and wartime atrocities under occupation.

11/20

Vatnik Soup
@P_Kallionemi · Follow

In today's Vatnik Soup and the "Degenerate Russia" series, I'll show you the brutal reality of Russian war crimes, in particular the horrific tortures and sexual abuses of children, women and men.

Buckle up, this one is not for the faint-hearted.

1/24

2:05 PM · Jun 26, 2025

 10.3K

 Reply

 Copy link

Read 113 replies

Jackson Hinkle   @jacksonhink... · 12h · ...

 Happy Birthday President Putin!

 Happy October 7th anniversary!

 515

 2,3K

 18K

 376K

Jackson Hinkle
@jacksonhinkle

...

Nick is right, Stalin was one of the greatest leaders in history! @pearlythingz

She is celebrated by nostalgia-driven far-leftists and pro-Kremlin “journalists” such as the Grayzone crowd, Tarik Cyril Amar, and Ivan Katchanovski. Even Mark “Russian women expect you to rape them” Ames signed an open letter in defense of Ms. Havryshko.

12/20

An Open Letter in Defense of Academic Freedom and the Ukrainian Historian Marta Havryshko

July 22, 2025

Recently, Marta shared a speech by AfD leader Alice Weidel, rhetorically asking her followers whether this was “true leadership that Germany needs.” In the speech, Weidel called for an end to military aid to Ukraine and demanded the repair of the Nord Stream pipeline.

13/20

Marta Havryshko ✅ @HavryshkoMarta · Jan 26

🔗 ...

For everyone speculating about my posts: I do not support AfD.
I despise (ultra) nationalism in any form - anywhere, anytime. It brings war and death.
Glory to Humanity.
Peace and kindness to everyone 😊

50

20

114

12K

🔗

↑

Litr Slivovice 🇺🇦 🇩🇪 🇺🇦 ✅ @litrslivovice · Jan 26

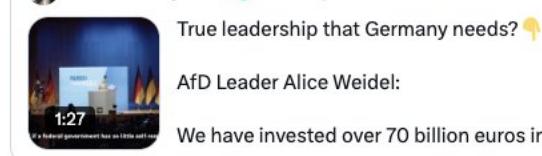

🔗 ...

You sure about that? Because this very much looks like you're quite literally supporting the leader of, you know, AfD.

Marta Havryshko ✅ @HavryshkoMarta · Jan 25

🔗 ...

2

1

117

1.6K

🔗

↑

Marta Havryshko ✅ @HavryshkoMarta

🔗 ...

Yes, I am sure. Do you see a question mark?

Marta Havryshko ✅
@HavryshkoMarta

X.com

‘Zelenskyy, give us back our 100 billion’: The leader of 🇵🇱 far-right Confederation party, Sławomir Mentzen, staged a picket in front of the Polish Sejm.

Looks like a fine initiative.
It really deserves to be globalized 😊

Näytä käännös

AfD is a far-right party whose members have openly expressed neo-Nazi views. In 2024, Weidel's then-advisor Roland Hartwig attended a meeting with neo-Nazi influencers where plans for mass deportations of “non-assimilated people” were openly discussed.

German election: AfD's Weidel doubles down on Holocaust comments

“I find it quite disturbing when the Holocaust is politically instrumentalized,” far-right leader says.

COPY LINK Email X WhatsApp Facebook

The AfD is currently polling in second place ahead of a national election set for Feb. 23. | Arnd Wiegmann/Getty Images

FEBRUARY 3, 2025 10:33 AM CET

BY CHRIS LUNDAY

BERLIN — The leader of the far-right Alternative for Germany (AfD) party, Alice Weidel, ignited a fresh wave of controversy following remarks during a Sunday appearance on German public broadcaster ARD, claiming the Holocaust is used as a cudgel against her party.

“I find it quite disturbing when the Holocaust is politically instrumentalized,” Weidel said, adding that remembrance should stand above “day-to-day politics.”

For some reason, Marta failed to do even basic background research on AfD. She missed that the party's members have used Nazi paramilitary slogans like "Alles für Deutschland," and some have openly defended the Waffen SS. And here we thought she was against neo-Nazism.

European Parliament: Le Pen Party Breaks With AfD After Statements on SS Soldiers

Top candidate of German AfD party for the European election Maximilian Krah attends a campaign event for the upcoming European elections in Dresden, eastern Germany on May 1, 2024.

Photo: JENS SCHLUETER / AFP

Left-wing newspaper Libération has revealed that Marine Le Pen's Rassemblement National (RN) will not sit alongside the Alternative für Deutschland (AfD) in the European Parliament after the European elections on June 9th. They cite statements by the German national conservative party aimed at rehabilitating members of the SS during the Second World War.

If Havryshko sees no issue associating with figures like Jackson Hinkle, who praised Putin from the start of the full-scale invasion, or with parties like AfD, which is openly hostile to Ukraine and supportive of Russia, her sudden re-alignment towards Moscow is clear.

Marta Havryshko

@HavryshkoMarta

X.com

He went out for bread and never made it home.

Moral of the story: don't start wars unless you've got enough supplies at home to survive without ever needing a "quick trip to the store."

Marta Havryshko @HavryshkoMarta

...

Some ill-wishers accuse me of not supporting the sacred Ukrainian resistance against Russian aggression.

So, let me clarify my position.

Long live Ukraine's resistance!

Until the very last man who still has arms capable of holding a weapon.

Until the very last woman who hasn't yet fled to the EU in search of a better life and a man with intact arms and legs.

Until the very last elderly person who hasn't frozen to death in the cold.

Until the very last child who still remembers life without war and without "lessons of courage" at school.

Until the very last MP who hasn't finished stealing Western aid.

Slava Ukraini!

Is that better now?

Am I finally a good patriot and a proper Ukrainian?

Or should I have put on Vyshyvanka before posting this?

Marta Havryshko

@HavryshkoMarta

Follow

Feb. 24, 2022.

Russia attacks Ukraine

The entire collective West is screaming:

‘Violation of international law!’

‘Putin=Hitler!’

‘An invasion of a sovereign country!’

Day four after the U.S. ‘brings democracy’ to Venezuela, kidnaps its president, kills about 80 people.

UK Prime Minister:

‘It’s too early to draw conclusions.

We don’t yet have the full picture.’

Judging by her recent sarcastic posts, she now openly despises Ukraine. Marta’s rapid shift from a refugee who fled Putin’s invasion and understood the need to fight him to a pro-Kremlin activist claiming Ukraine started the war raises an obvious question — what happened?

Article ^

At 4:30 a.m. I saw that Vladimir Putin had started his address. Who would give an address late at night? What was it for? For what purpose? "There could be only one purpose – a great war against Ukraine", I thought. From the very beginning of Putin's aggressive speech, I could not contain my emotions. I cried not only for my unrealized academic plans and projects. I was crying because, as a researcher of war and the Holocaust, I know the price of war, I understand the suffering it brings to innocent people, the dramatic and lasting consequences it has, and how it makes ordinary people commit extraordinary evil.

Black thoughts swarmed in my head. I remembered dozens of stories of women from the Second World War that I had heard directly from them, or read in interviews with them or in their diaries and memoirs. I remembered the story of Regina Brudinger, a young Jewish girl whose studies at a teacher training school in Lviv had been interrupted by German bombs in the early morning of June 22, 1941. I admired her courage and bravery, because by the dawn she had volunteered at a military hospital and had been working as a nurse throughout the war. I also remembered another woman, Kazymyra Poray, who had saved her husband and mother-in-law in the first days of the war and during the Lviv pogrom of 1941. She tried to get food for them and protect them from the angry mob that craved the blood of their Jewish neighbors.

I thought about other women and their relatives who, in the first days of the German attack on the Soviet Union, tried to comprehend what was happening, guess the future, and make decisions that became fateful. "Should we flee or stay?", many of them thought. "If we flee, where can we go and with whom?" These were the questions that loomed over me in the first days of Russia's full-scale invasion of Ukraine. Fear for my 9-year-old son, Danylo, forced my imagination to draw macabre pictures of his possible sufferings in the war, much like the ones experienced by children in Ukraine during the Nazi occupation. I wanted to protect my son from the horrors of war, and in early March I decided to leave my home and my family.

Published February 24, 2023, 04:38

WAR IN UKRAINE

"The Third Reich was not stopped by peace flags either."

Marta Havryshko is a Ukrainian historian researching the genocide in her homeland during World War II. The war forced her to flee. She now teaches at the University of Basel.

 from
Steve Last

3039 218 Remember

Ukrainian historian Marta Havryshko primarily researches the Holocaust. She spoke with 20 Minuten about the situation in her homeland a year after the Russian invasion. 20min/Steve Last

What is Russia doing?

The Kremlin, on the other hand, is trying to portray Ukraine as the new Nazis and Russians as the new Jews. Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov, for example, claimed that Adolf Hitler had Jewish roots to explain how Ukraine could be a Nazi state, even though President Volodymyr Zelensky is Jewish. Israel was outraged. But the Kremlin twists history into a myth to justify its actions and mobilize the population. Completely ignored is the fact that Ukrainians also served in the Red Army and fought against the Nazis. This doesn't fit the narrative of good versus evil. There were Nazi collaborators in both Russia and Ukraine during World War II, but in Russia, this is a taboo subject.

And recently?

After the Maidan Revolution in 2014, Russia annexed Crimea and supported the separatists in the Donbas. And on February 24, 2022, the invasion followed. Try to put yourself in the shoes of the Ukrainian people. I fear that many people in countries as safe as Switzerland are unable to do so. Every attempt to forge a Ukrainian national identity has been crushed by Moscow. The invasion is just the latest chapter in a history marked by oppression and suffering. Confront it instead of being bothered by the fact that the news is clouding your daily life. You want peace? So do I. But not at the cost of a Russian occupation of my homeland, to which I cannot return. And the Third Reich wasn't stopped by waving peace flags, but by tanks. Anyone who turns a blind eye to what Russia is doing in Ukraine becomes complicit in these crimes.

Marta often encourages pro-Ukraine activists to “go to the front.” One of them did, and later urged her to raise funds for Ukrainian children or civilians. Instead, he was accused of “stalking,” and as far as we know Ms Havryshko has raised a grand total of 0€ for Ukraine.

Marta Havryshko ✅ @HavryshkoMa... · 19h

"You have thousands of followers. Why do you never organize fundraisers for the Ukrainian army?" asks me 'Slava Ukraini' crowd.

Because I don't support killing people — no matter what cause it's done in the name of. I want the war to end asap.

Donations to any armies don't stop Show more

60

23

189

10K

Dimko Zhluktenko  ✅ @dim0kq · 18h  ⚡ ...

Run a fundraiser to support the kids or civilians, I am fairly sure you will find reason both to

5

12

528

15K

Marta Havryshko ✅

@HavryshkoMarta

Stop stalking me

02:49 · 12/23/25 · 7.5K Views

25

2

3

2

Annamaria Borino @Marialinden301 · Jan 26

You don't care about Nazi's. You just hate Ukraine.

...

1

55

479

Marta Havryshko ✅

@HavryshkoMarta

...

The ones who hate Ukraine are those who want Ukrainians to fight until the last man, while they cheer for them from their warm couches. Go to the front and cheer there.

 Marta Havryshko  @HavryshkoMarta · Nov 25, 2025
Replies to @CiaranKilbride1
Go to the front in Ukraine, warrior!
3 39 332

 Firas Bu Hamdan
@FirasHamda2
Are you going to join the Russian army?:)

Unlike other vatniks, Marta does not deny Russian atrocities — she just seems to argue they are all the more reason to surrender (to those committing them!), as if that would somehow make them stop. Arguably, this is even more insidious than open support for the invasion.

19/20

Marta Havryshko

@HavryshkoMarta

...

This photo is being circulated as atrocity propaganda.

The goal is simple: manufacture hatred and cultivate a thirst for revenge.

The message goes something like, “We must fight Russia to avenge what it did in Ukraine.”

Sounds noble. It’s also a big Lie.

Because the longer the war drags on, the more Ukrainian cities turn into scenic piles of rubble. The more people lose their homes.

Meanwhile, Western audiences get more seasons of their favorite reality show:

Good guys vs. bad guys, high-definition destruction, morally satisfying explosions — all from the comfort of the couch.

Marta Havryshko  @HavryshkoMarta · Jan 18

Apocalypse in Kyiv.

Russia is striking energy infrastructure.

Pipes are bursting.

Water is flooding.

With no heating, the water freezes.

To conclude, Marta Havryshko is an activist who completely switched sides on the invasion of her home country. This has made her warmly welcomed by the pro-kremlin crowd, who embraced her as one of their own.

Thank you @geogvma for the inspiration for this “poule au pot”.

20/20

Marta Havryshko

@HavryshkoMarta

X.com

The NATO–Ukraine question has always been viewed in the Kremlin as a major security threat—and both Washington and Europe knew it.

How long can you provoke a wild beast without consequences?

The bitter truth is that Ukrainians are the ones paying for these geopolitical games. With blood.

That is why the publication of the stenograms of the private meetings between former U.S. President George W. Bush and Russian President Vladimir Putin by the National Security Archive could not be more timely.

Especially for "unprovoked war" fanatics.

Marta Havryshko @HavryshkoMarta · 23m
Tulsi Gabbard is my Heroine!

🔗 ...

"They do so to pull the US military into a conflict with Russia, which is ultimately what the EU and NATO want. We cannot allow this to happen."

"Every time they make progress, move closer to that hope for peace - the war mongers and deep state step up and do everything they can to stop them!"

"We have to see clearly what's happening before our very eyes - and stand united in this cause for peace."

There are voices in the West, including in Switzerland, that blame Ukraine, the West, NATO, and the USA for the war. What is your view on this?

This is a classic case of victim-blaming. In a rape case, the blame never lies with the victim, but always with the perpetrator – regardless of how short his skirt was. We mustn't fall into this trap when discussing politics. Ultimately, it is Russian bombs that are killing the Ukrainian population in their homes. The West's responsibility lies primarily in its policy of appeasement towards Russia. And one certainly cannot say that the aggression came without warning. Think of Chechnya, Georgia, and Syria. In Ukraine, we have been living with Russian, imperialistically motivated repression, threats, and troop build-ups for decades. The Soviet Union brutally conquered Ukraine in 1922. Millions died in the great famine of 1932-1933. The country was Russified over decades. In 1991, Ukraine declared its independence, but this did nothing to change Russia's claims. Can you imagine having such a superior giant as a neighbor?

Russian propaganda portrays Ukraine as a country controlled by Nazis.
What is your view on this, especially as a historian?

The Kremlin propagated the idea of Nazis and fascists in Ukraine long before February 24, 2022. Even the Maidan Revolution was discredited as a rebellion by far-right groups. But far-right extremists, unfortunately, exist in every country. In reality, the revolution had broad popular support. It was a turning point in Ukrainian history. We distanced ourselves from Russian influence and embraced European values. But we always knew that Russia would never let us go—like someone who commits domestic violence. The problem lies in the imperialist attitude toward Ukraine, which is widespread in Russia.

Enjoyed this soup? Brandolini's law: The amount of energy needed to refute vatnik propaganda is an order of magnitude bigger than that needed to produce it. Fact-based research takes time and effort — please support our work:

Fight Disinformation With Us: Support our Work | Vatnik Soup

Vatnik Soup: Your most comprehensive resource on pro-Kremlin disinformation and propaganda.

<https://vatniksoup.com/en/support-our-work/>

• • •