In today's Vatnik Soup REBREW, we'll reintroduce Laura Loomer @LauraLoomer, an American political activist. Our first possible case of a former vatnik, she's best known for her unhinged takes on Ukraine & for admitting those were the result of falling for Russian propaganda.

When we first souped Laura, she was just one of many influential right-wingers and conspiracy theorists spreading vatnik propaganda: the usual, stale Kremlin narratives intended to help Russia with its invasion of Ukraine.

Yeah. This week it hit me hard just how much Russian propaganda we have been subjected to on the right for the last 5 years.

Especially as it pertains to the religious divide and the absolute gaslighting we get from right wing influencers who use religion as a shield to be terrible people.

Right wing podcasters will use their religion to shame others while they take money from communist and Islamic regimes that slaughter Christians and use anti-Semitism as a currency.

Now I see it's being weaponized to usher in communism and Islamism and it's really being directed by Iran, Russia, China and Qatar.

It freaks me out to see how many people I've known for years who are involved in this opp and how their minds have been warped.

It truly is propaganda and I should have detected this much sooner.

The left wasn't entirely wrong when they called some people Russian puppets. Just like the right isn't wrong when they call some people agents of the Chinese communists and Islamists.

Now I'm just wondering how long some of these people I've known for years have been activated as foreign agents and who their handlers are.

I've come to really dislike a lot of people I thought I liked years ago over what I've learned about them and their ties to certain foreign interests meant to destabilize the West while they pretended to be the biggest defenders of the West.

I did say these things about Ukraine and Zelensky and I am not deleting my posts because I've realized, I was wrong.

I was living in a media echo chamber and I was propagandized by Russian media on social media to believe those things.

So I came to Ukraine to see the country for myself. I am going to try to find evidence for the propaganda I've been fed, and if I don't find it, I will let everyone know so they too can come to see the light.

On day one, I've already seen photos of dead priests in Bucha murdered by Russia and I saw the mass grave where the bodies of murdered Christians were placed after Russia sent forces from Chechnya to massacre innocent people.

I spoke with officials who rescue POWs and they showed me photos of Ukrainian POWs who had swastikas engraved into their forehead by Russians.

Who are the Nazis? 🤔 I was lied to for years.

I realized Ukraine and @ZelenskyyUa aren't the jihadi apologists... but Russia and Putin are!

Sirens blaring.

This is everyday for every Ukrainian.

I feel like such an asshole for minimizing the struggle of Ukrainians for the last 5 years. I often said I don't care. Looking back, that wasn't very nice of me to say.

There are people in Ukraine who have to run to a bomb shelter everyday and some of us had the audacity to say Russia wasn't wrong because we believed the lie that Ukraine is a country full of Nazi sympathizers.

We have been so propagandized by Russia and we don't even realize it.

Air sirens could very well be the future of America if we don't start demanding our lawmakers crack down on communism and multipolarity.

Thank you, Rabbi! @RabbiUkraine

It was a pleasure meeting with Rabbi Moshe Azman, the Chief Rabbi of Ukraine, who invited me to his Chabad synagogue in Kyiv to have a lovely Kosher dinner.

Rabbi Azman has 12 kids, and one of his sons was a soldier in the Ukrainian army and he was killed by Russians in battle.

Before coming to Ukraine, I believed that Ukraine's Army was full of Nazis in the Azov Battalion. I once even called Zelenskyy a self hating Nazi Jew because I thought the Ukrainian Army was all a bunch of Nazis.

I admit, I fell for Russian propaganda.

Upon visiting Ukraine, I learned that Ukraine actually has stronger anti-Semitism laws than the US and it's illegal in Ukraine to own Nazi relics. You can be arrested and jailed in Ukraine for promoting Third Reich materials and Nazism or Islamic terrorism. That means Ukraine has stronger anti-Semitism laws than the United States!

You'd never know if you were consuming Russian propaganda and believing Putin's lie about the need to "denazify Ukraine".

The Rabbi told me his dead Jewish son didn't fight alongside Nazis.

I can assure Americans that Jews are safer in Ukraine than they are in Mamdani's New York City!

Thank you for the beautiful Magen David necklace you gave me as well!

The Rabbi even wrote a song for President Trump! I plan on sharing the song with President Trump. I think he will love it.

Russia repeats genocide on Crimean Tatars

ECR Group

The 80 years since the genocidal deportation of the Crimean Tatar people are not just a tragedy for the Crimean Tatars, but a systemic diagnosis and a historical warning of what Russian imperialism is.

MEP Anna Fotyga, former foreign minister of Poland.

For many nations in Europe and Asia, no other country has brought as much sorrow and suffering as Russia. This state has distorted and maimed the countless individuals and nations. Russia's continued existence depends on its ability to expand. From the Vistula, the Baltic Sea, and the Danube in the west, to the Caucasus, the Balkans, and Central Asia in the south, to the Far East in the east, the peoples inhabiting these territories have been in a state of constant fear for the last 400 years due to the ongoing threat of Moscow's aggression, occupation, colonization, and even complete ethnic genocide.

The Crimean Tatars are but one of numerous peoples who have suffered from Moscow's expansionist policies over the course of three consecutive centuries. Moscow first deprived the Crimean Tatars of their state territories, and then of their statehood on the Crimean Peninsula and the adjacent regions. These territories are currently witnessing fierce battles for Ukrainian independence.. In the late 18th century, Crimean Tatars, along with Poles and Ukrainians, fell into the hands of Russian imperialism, and the first thing Moscow did was strike at the historical memory of these peoples. The blow to the Crimean Tatars was so profound that by the end of the 19th century, they were on the brink of total extinction.

Even the microscopic presence of Crimean Tatars on the Crimean Peninsula was viewed as an existential, ideological, and historical threat for the Kremlin. Putin's words were not accidental when he said that Crimea is a sacred place for all of Russia. However, it is based on historical lies and omits the fact that less than 6 per cent of Crimea's written history belongs to the Russian chapter. This short period of 168 years was fulfilled with genocidal policies of the Russian rulers, because in this strategic location there was no place for the indigenous people under tsarist, Soviet rule and likewise for Putin's and any other chauvinistic regime in Russia. As a result, on May 19, 1944, 80 years ago, Moscow organised a mass deportation of the Crimean Tatar people and several other ethnic groups residing on the peninsula. The entire Crimean Tatar people were squeezed into hundreds of enormous kilometer-long trains and moved eastward to Central Asia over 21 days. It was a deliberate decision to annihilate the people of Crimea and the peoples of the North Caucasus, who were also mass-deported that year. During their exile, the Crimean Tatars lost about half of their population.

Time to recognise the Crimean Tatar genocide

JON RICHARDSON

Acknowledging the crimes in the 1940s would underline the attachment to Ukraine and rebuff changing borders by force.

It's very clean and orderly here. That probably has a lot to do with it.

Ban Muslims from holding office in America.

We are never going to Make America Safe Again until President Trump goes back to implementing his Muslim ban.

This time, make it a Muslim Ban as it was intended to be. Not an Islamic travel ban.

When you allow Muslims to participate in the American political system, you get Twelver Shia Iran regime sympathizers and Hamas lovers like Mamdani governing the largest city in America.

It won't end well.

I'm just glad the Trump administration confirmed to me that Mamdani will never be given an FBI clearance.

My senior @FBI source told me, "Senior FBI leadership has reason to believe Mamdani may be having direct communication with Islamic terrorist organizations. He is certainly a national security risk which is why we declined giving him an FBI approved security clearance. He won't be getting one."

I pushed very hard for that to be the case even before Mamdani was elected.

Shocking my FBI source confirmed to me that they allegedly have reason to believe Mamdani is having direct communication with terror orgs.

Should be a major story.

She has correctly highlighted Russia's support for Islamist terrorism and sowing chaos in the Middle East. But her radical anti-Muslim views still make her get Chechnya wrong — Kadyrov has nothing to do with Dudayev.

It seems you still haven't freed yourself from Russian propaganda. You still carry prejudice and hatred toward Chechens. Let me remind you that Chechens are fighting under their own national flag on Ukraine's side, shoulder to shoulder with Ukrainians against a common enemy.
As for those Chechens serving in the Russian army, they fought against their own people and helped the occupiers conquer Chechnya in exchange for salaries paid by the Russian government. They no longer represent the Chechen people—they serve Russia's interests.
Regarding Bucha, you write as if only people of Chechen origin took part in those crimes. That is simply not true. Russian soldiers of many different nationalities were involved, all sent there by the Russian authorities. Choose your words carefully and do not spread hatred toward an entire nation. The people you accuse have been fighting this evil, often alone, for centuries.
And as for the West, you believe you have already awakened, but in reality you are still asleep. You are not doing enough to help Ukraine, even though you have the ability to prevent many of the lives Ukraine loses every single day. You come here like tourists, watching what is happening as if you were watching a movie in a cinema.
If the West had not helped Russia remain intact during the 1990s and had not contributed to preserving its power after the war against Chechnya, perhaps Bucha would never have happened, and Ukrainian children would not be dying every day.
You should be ashamed of your comments, Madam.

“After running to the bomb shelter in Ukraine myself several times”, Loomer has called for Trump to “give Ukraine access to Patriot Missiles”. Great, but... those were provided by Biden already, whereas Trump cut all US funding for Ukraine.

In April 2025, he even scolded Zelenskyy for asking to BUY more of them, while accusing him of having started the war (Putin started the war, in 2014, years before Zelenskyy even got into politics).
