

Pekka Kallioniemi @P_Kallioniemi

Sep 29 · 19 tweets · P_Kallioniemi/status/1707671131736424617

In today's #vatniksoup, I'll dissect Russian propaganda, go through its main characteristics and also discuss how it differs from Ukrainian propaganda. This soup will mostly focus on the Kremlin's more "sophisticated" forms of media, like mobilization ads and advertisements.

1/18

From the beginning of Russia's full-scale invasion of Ukraine in Feb 2022, Russia's propaganda machinery has been going on full steam.

In addition to using social media, botnets and troll farms to spread their narratives, they've also produced various ads and videos.

2/18

WAR IN UKRAINE

The Kremlin wants 'real men' to prove themselves by joining the fight in Ukraine

The ad comes as Moscow prepares for a counteroffensive expected to be launched by Ukraine this spring, having seen its own winter push falter.

Russian propaganda can be targeted at domestic population or to foreign audiences. Let's first look at how Russia promotes the war to its domestic audience. These ads generally focus on MASCULINITY, POWER and/or MATERIALISM.

Russia's appeal to 'warrior masculinity'

MARINA YUSUPOVA 10th May 2023

Putin's Victory Day pitch for more military recruits is unlikely to encourage men to enlist in the army.

A presidential press-office photo of yesterday's dais in Moscow: sepia 'great patriotic war' imagery, medalled veterans and retro-Soviet gigantism

HANS BÖCKLER STIFTUNG
ADVERTISEMENT

REPORT
No. 066, July 2023

WSI EUROPEAN COLLECTIVE BARGAINING REPORT 2022 / 2023
Real Wages Collapse across Europe due to Inflation Shock
Toby Jackson, Maria Löffler

CONTRACT
While real wages fell by 4.5% in 2022, nominal wages increased by 6.5%. This was due to a combination of inflation and real wage growth. In 2023, real wages are expected to rise by 1.5%.

WSI European Collective

HOME > NEWS AND EVENTS > RUSSIAN IMPERIALISM HAS ROOTS GOING BACK HUNDREDS OF YEARS

Russian imperialism has roots going back hundreds of years

10.5.2023 | ECONOMY AND SOCIETY LANGUAGES AND CULTURES

Russian Soldiers Send Home 58 Tons of Looted Items from Ukraine – Investigation

May 26, 2022

In Apr 2023, Russian Defense Ministry published a recruitment video in which anyone who is still doing a regular job instead of getting killed in Ukraine is not a "real man". In addition, young men are attracted with a hefty salary (by Russian standards).

4/18

This appeal to one's masculinity is a common theme in Russian propaganda, but it is then complemented with the idea of wealth. But as we know, Russia's casualties in this war are incredibly high, and often the families of the fallen are not even compensated.

5/18

ChrisO_wiki
@ChrisO_wiki

1/ Russian soldiers say that Russia's Ministry of Defence is leaving the bodies of dead convicts on the battlefield in Ukraine so that it doesn't have to pay compensation to relatives. Meanwhile, relatives are besieged by scammers claiming to have information. 📌

Ara Vanady
@AraVanady

No #Deadrussiansoldiers from #Moscow or #StPetersburg - but many from poor, rural areas. Those moms don't travel days to Moscow to protest, they don't speak out, but take the € 100 (= US-$ 105) they get as compensation for any fallen #soldier. Insane? No, Russia! A sick country!

11:20 PM · May 8, 2022

Ukraine Realities 🇺🇦
@Lukas_Dreams

How much killed #Russian #soldier #mothers getting in government support & compensation? Not a 10.000 rubbles, like as before... Right now it is just a 5.000 #rubbles.
That is a “whooping” size compensation of $70!
Human life in #Russia worth $70 quid only. Totally sick! 🤢

Евгений Скрипник
сегодня в 9:59

Благодаря помощи наших друзей , смогли передать мат. помощь 5000 р. Елене вдове погибшего героя Новороссии.

9:24 PM · May 10, 2022

🗨️ ↻️ ❤️ 2 📌 📤

In another ad published in Sep 2023, two Russians discuss how they're going to buy real estate and move to Kyiv and Odesa after they've been captured. This ad is all about Russian imperialism and power, and it is in...

6/18

...contradiction to the Kremlin's official statements of the war being about "denazification" and "saving the Russian-speaking population" in Ukraine.

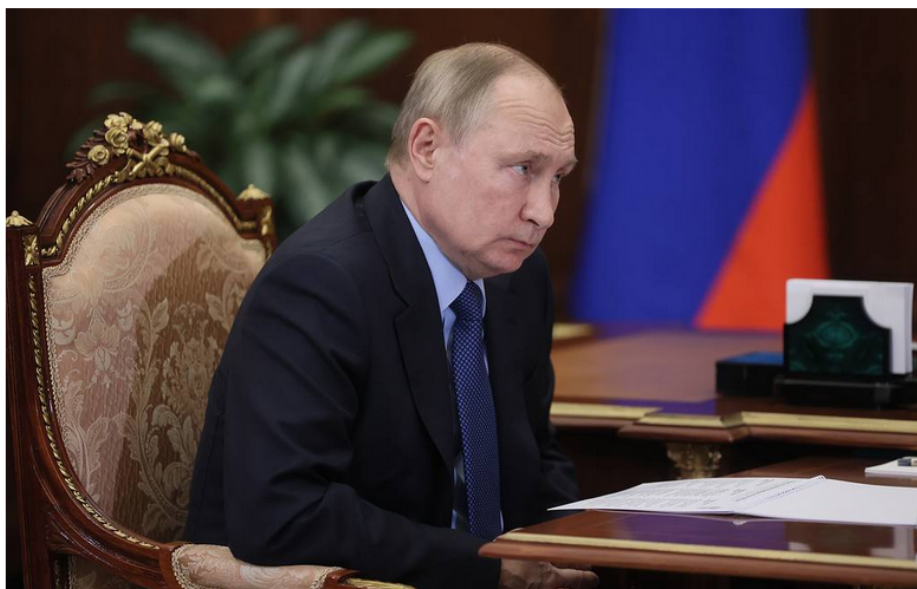

In reality, the war is about conquest and genocide, as most of you already know.

7/18

MILITARY OPERATION IN UKRAINE 24 FEB 2022, 06:12

Decision taken on denazification, demilitarization of Ukraine – Putin

Justice and truth are on Russia's side, President Vladimir Putin said

© Mikhail Metzel/POOL/TASS

UKRAINE CRISIS 7 JUL 2022, 19:21

Donbass residents subjected to isolation, genocide for eight years — Putin

Commenting on plans to give the Donbass residents the opportunity to participate in Russia's "More than a journey" project, the Russian president said that it was very important

MOSCOW, July 7. /TASS/. The population of Donbass has been subjected to isolation and genocide for eight years, Russian President Vladimir Putin said on Thursday.

"The people there for a long time, for eight years, have been, as they say, neither here nor there," the head of state said during a meeting with the winners of the Leaders of Russia competition.

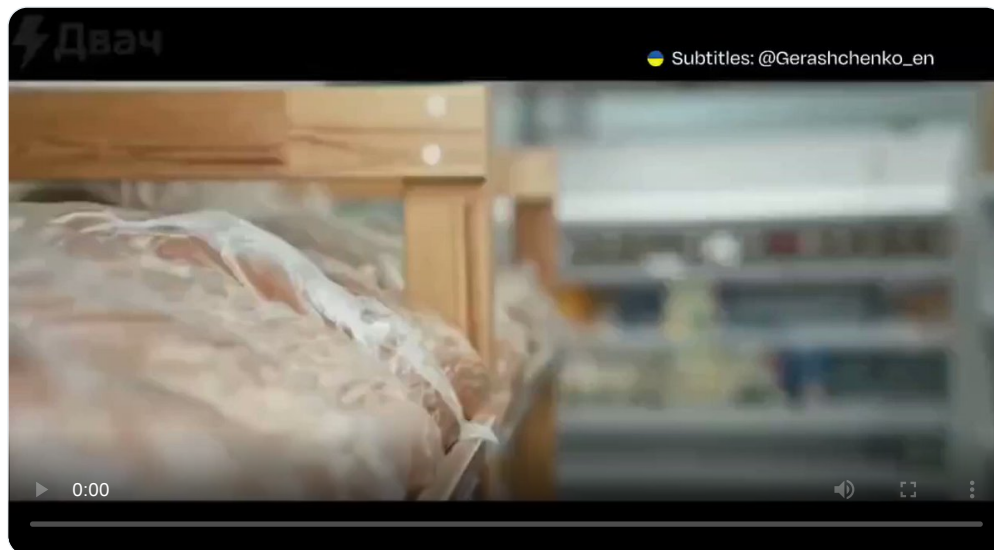

"I am not even mentioning bombardments and such but in general, this is the isolation and genocide, if one also considers the accompanying eight-year-long military pressure," Putin stressed.

The Russian leadership will do everything to completely restore living conditions in the Lugansk People's Republic (LPR) for all the residents of this region, the president said.

One recruitment ad focusing on materialism shows a grandpa who has to sell his shiny Lada in order to survive, but eventually his grandson signs a contract to join the war.

This absurd ad simply shows how Russian propaganda values material possession over human lives.

8/18

Now, these ads may be the only connection to the war in poor areas, in which most of the information flows through TV channels. Russia's censorship organization, Roskomnadzor, makes sure that no information about Russia's losses and genocidal acts finds these people,...

9/18

The main instruments, organisational aspects and funding of propaganda

State television is Russian propaganda's main tool and the principal source of information for more than 60% of Russians, mainly elderly people and non-urban residents.^[1] The most watched TV channels^[2] Rossiya 1 and Rossiya 24, owned by the VGTRK holding (Russia's main radio and TV broadcaster), as well as the government-controlled Pervyy Kanal channel and NTV channel owned by the Gazprom Media company, are of particular importance when it comes to shaping public opinion. When the war with Ukraine began, the main channels modified their broadcast programming – the broadcasting of entertainment content and series was reduced and the duration of news and current affairs programmes was extended. Rossiya channels increased the duration of those programmes which serve to spread the main points of the Kremlin's propaganda message and are hosted by major Russian TV presenters. The duration of several shows was increased, including the "Vesti Nedeli" ("News of the Week")^[3] TV show which presents a weekly summary of current events with the commentary by the programme's host Dmitri Kiselyov – the head of the government-controlled Rossiya Segodnya news agency; the "60 Minut" ("60 Minutes") TV debate show hosted by Olga Skabeyeva and Yevgeni Popov (a married couple) aired twice daily on weekdays; and the "Vecher s Vladimirom Soloviovym" ("Evening with Vladimir Solovyov") socio-political talk show aired daily. Each episode of these shows can even be up to three hours long.

COUNCIL ON FOREIGN RELATIONS

Foreign Affairs CFR Education Newsletters

United Nations Climate Change Topics Regions Explaners Research & Analysis Communities Events

from Net Politics and Digital and Cyberspace Policy Program

Russia's Internet Censor is Also a Surveillance Machine

Russia's internet censorship has often been an opaque concept. Recent hack and leak operations, however, have shined light on the prominent role that Roskomnadzor plays in surveilling the internet and crushing dissent.

Blog Post by Justin Sherman, Guest Contributor
September 28, 2022 11:47 am (EST)

Russian law enforcement officers clash with protestors supporting jailed opposition Alexei Navalny in Moscow in January 2021. Maxim Shemetov/Reuters

Facebook Twitter LinkedIn Print Email

As the Putin regime continues its war on Ukraine, the Kremlin has almost totally repressed the speech, assembly, and press environment in Russia. A little-known Russian agency: Roskomnadzor, the country's internet and media regulator and, therefore, internet and media censor has been central to this

...and that these people living in poverty fully rely on the heavily filtered information they get from their televisions.

As the late Russian General Alexander Lebed said: "Let me recruit a platoon of the children of the elite, and the war will be over in a day."

10/18

The screenshot shows the France 24 website interface. At the top, there are navigation icons for Home, Shows, News, and Live. Below that, regional links for France, Africa, Middle East, Americas, Europe, and Asia-Pacific are visible. The main headline reads "Young, poor and from minorities: the Russian troops killed in Ukraine". A sub-headline states: "Paris (AFP) – The bulk of the thousands of Russian soldiers killed in Moscow's onslaught against Ukraine are very young, have poor backgrounds and many are from ethnic minority groups, observers say." Below the headline, it says "Issued on: 17/05/2022 - 08:18" and "5 min".

The propaganda that Kremlin produces for the foreign audiences differs from all this, and it often attempts to promote the INCONVENIENCE that the war brings. This type of campaigning peaked just before the winter of 2022, when the West was preparing for a "harsh winter"...

11/18

...due to the lack of Russian gas and oil. One of the more "popular" videos was the one depicting Christmas in Europe without Russian gas. In it, a Western family eventually becomes so poor, that they have to eat the family hamster.

12/18

In another ad, a woman is looking for love online in a cold and dark apartment. Eventually, he finds a Russian man who boasts with electricity, light and heat. After she decides to move to his place, there's already a bunch of "Western" women living with him.

13/18

Many of these ads were published with German audiences in mind, probably because of their strong military support of Ukraine, but also to support the rise of far-right, pro-Kremlin parties like AfD:

14/18

 Pekka Kallioniemi
@P_Kallioniemi · Follow

In today's #vatniksoup, I'll introduce a German right-wing and populist political party, Alternative für Deutschland, or AfD (@AfD). The party is best-known for their Euroskeptic and pro-Kremlin politics, and for having strong political and financial ties to the Kremlin.

1/19

9:03 AM · Aug 7, 2023

4.2K Reply Copy link

Read 174 replies

One example of this type of advertising is a video where German army authorities storm into a family's home and takes all of their money. The ad then claims that the German ad is taken directly from the German taxpayers.

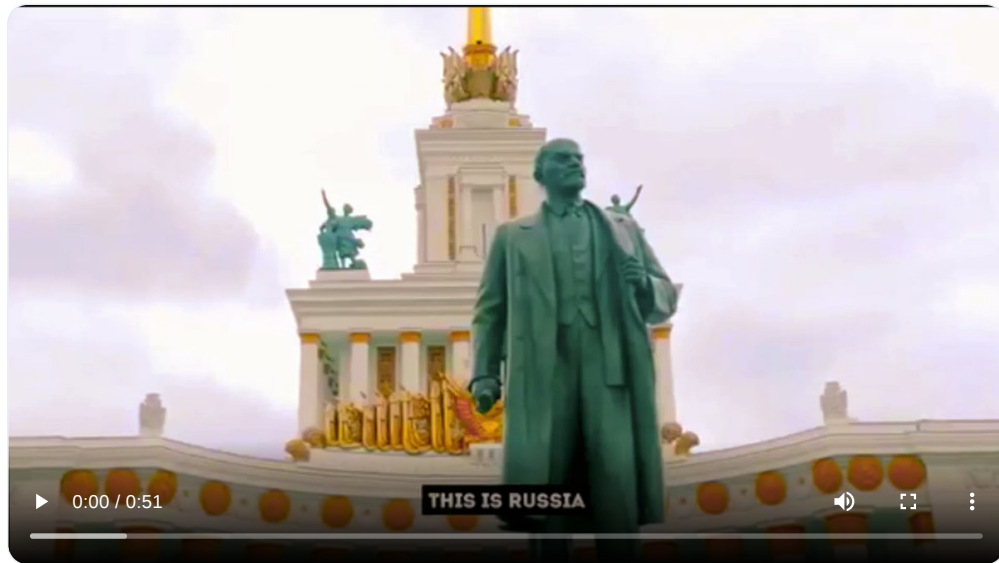

15/18

They've also published a bunch of ads which encourage the people from the West to move to Russia. All these ads also appeals to the Russian audiences, basically saying that "we have it so much better than the people in the West."

This ad even features a Ukrainian model.

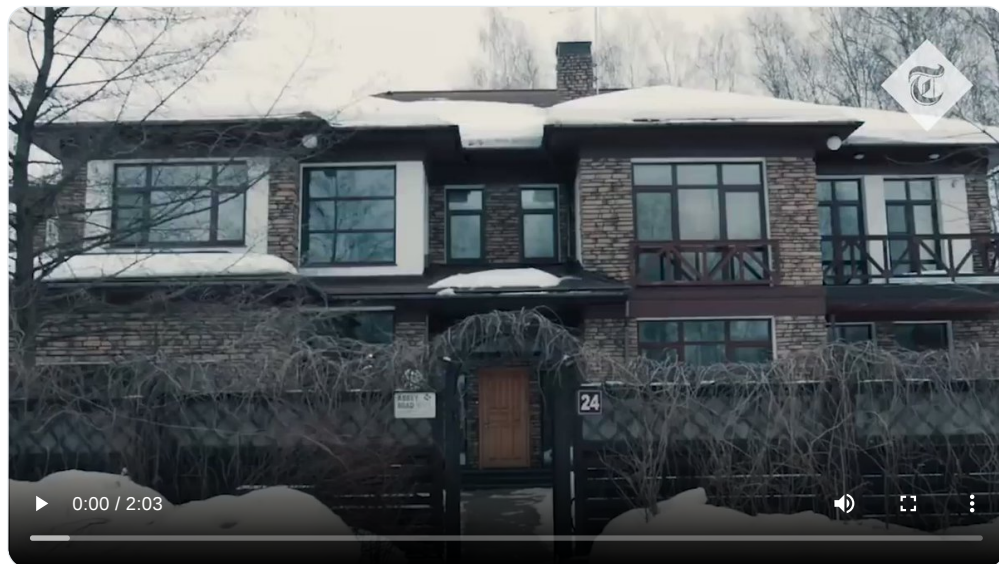

16/18

In other ads, they've called for the end of "Russophobia", even trying to adopt a hashtag #StopHatingRussians.

This ad was published just a month after Russia started their genocidal attack on Ukraine, showing how tone-deaf these propagandists actually are.

17/18

To summarize the propaganda targeted at the West: it focuses on costs of the war and the inflation and price hikes it brings, naturally blaming it all on Ukraine rather than themselves. It also appeals to the regular voters to stop any kind of aid to Ukraine.

18/18

Climate & Energy | Gas | Climate Change

Analysis: Europe heads more comfortably into winter without Russia's Nord Stream gas

By Kate Abnett, Nora Buli and Julia Payne

September 26, 2023 6:43 PM GMT+3 · Updated 3 days ago

Pipes for the Nord Stream 2 gas pipeline in the Baltic Sea, which are not used, are seen in the harbour of Mukran, Germany, on September 30, 2022. REUTERS/Fabian Bimmer//File Photo Acquire Licensing Rights

August 2023

Annual inflation down to 5.2% in the euro area

Down to 5.9% in the EU

The euro area annual inflation rate was 5.2% in August 2023, down from 5.3% in July. A year earlier, the rate was 9.1%. European Union annual inflation was 5.9% in August 2023, down from 6.1% in July. A year earlier, the rate was 10.1%. These figures are published by Eurostat, the statistical office of the European Union.

The lowest annual rates were registered in Denmark (2.3%), Spain and Belgium (both 2.4%). The highest annual rates were recorded in Hungary (14.2%), Czechia (10.1%) and Slovakia (9.6%). Compared with July, annual inflation fell in fifteen Member States, remained stable in one and rose in eleven.

In August, the highest contribution to the annual euro area inflation rate came from services (+2.41 percentage points, pp), followed by food, alcohol & tobacco (+1.98 pp), non-energy industrial goods (+1.19 pp) and energy (-0.34 pp).

All soups:

Support my work:

Vatnik Soup

#vatniksoup is a Twitter thread series (and a hashtag!) where I'll introduce pro-Russian actors and propagandists from around the world, be they so-called "independent journalists", politicians, mili...

<https://vatniksoup.com>

Pekka Kallioniemi

 buymeacoffee.com/PKallioniemi

Pekka Kallioniemi

I love supporting creators!

<https://www.buymeacoffee.com/PKallioniemi>

